

I am disappointed that the country has come to the point that over 20 local ABC affiliates are pulling "Saving Private Ryan" from the air tonight. I thought that Republicans (mostly what the FCC is made up of) were suppose to be pro military. Well, this is not the way to support our veterans on Veterans Day. I am very unhappy with the FCC that they have brought the stations to this point. As a citizen I want to express my digust with the FCC and ask that as a group you don't force your definition of "community standards." Also, if you read my comment and think, oh another crazy New Yorker--don't, I just moved to New York in April and have lived in Cincinnati for the majority of my adult life.
